

1 Advanced personnel selection

Overview

The "Advanced personnel selection" function offers the user the option to limit the selection of employees in various applications.

If you select personnel by Name, the function shows the persons who are currently valid and will be valid in the future. Staff who left the company is still included in selection lists for up to two months after the date of leaving. Afterwards, you can use the personnel number to select these persons.

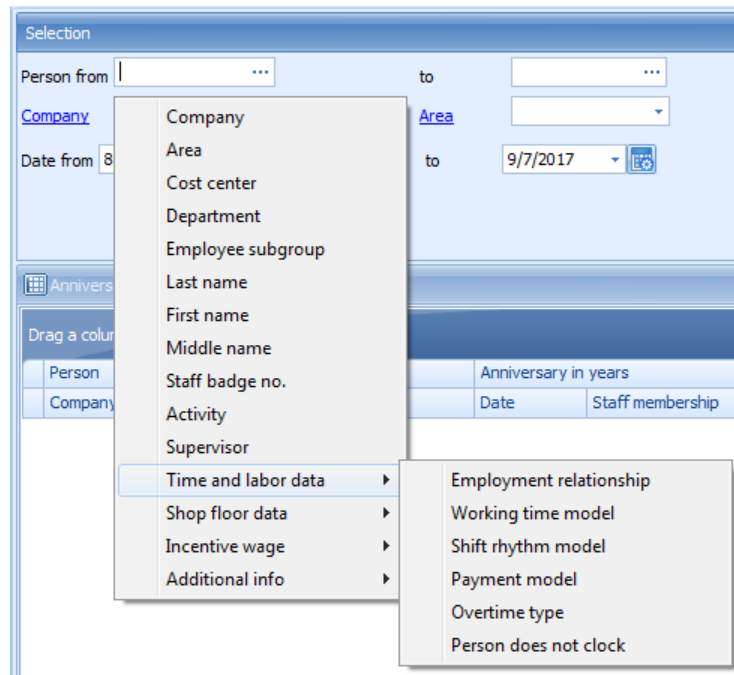

If a person's name changes in a new version of the HR master, the selection list still includes the previous name for up to two months (previous HR master version expired two months ago). During this period, the selection field shows the name that comes first in the alphabetically sorted selection list.

The selection field Name is only available if the modification PersonnelSelectionName is enabled.

Purpose

The fields Company, Area and Cost center are underlined and highlighted in blue font if you enabled the Advanced personnel selection function. Click on one of these fields (company, area, cost center) to open a selection list and to choose another HR master field.

The selection field Person does not clock is only available if the modification PersonnelSelectionFields is enabled.

For example, the list includes the HR master data fields Department, Employee subgroup, Activity and the additional information fields of the HR master. You can make a selection using the additional info fields of the HR master if you have the responsibility area authorization to display these fields.

Click the toolbar function Save settings to save the set selection criteria user-specifically. Therefore, the criteria will be preset the next time you open the application.