This application allows for premium groups to be combined into premium areas. A premium group may be assigned to several areas, which results in some kind of a hierarchical structure.

The documentation dealing with the group bonus describes how premium areas are processed and computed.

The screenshot displays the 'Assignment of premium area' application window. It features a top toolbar with icons for 'Request data', 'Cancel', 'Print preview', 'Print all', 'Insert', 'Copy', 'Edit', 'Delete', 'Save', 'Help on operation', 'Help on application', and 'Help on detail application'. Below the toolbar is a 'Selection' section with dropdowns for 'Premium area' and 'Premium group', and checkboxes for 'Currently valid', 'Valid in the future', and 'Valid in the past'. The main area is a table titled 'Assignment of premium area' with columns: 'Premium area', 'Designation', 'Premium group', 'Designation', 'Validity', and 'Last editing'. The table lists various premium areas and groups, including AR ASMBL, AR SURFC, and AR SURFC, with their respective designations and validity dates. Field Description

Premium area, premium group

Assigns a premium area to a premium group. Both fields are premium groups. But the premium area has to be configured as “premium area” and the premium group must not be configured as “premium area”.

Valid from, valid until

Defines the period for the assignment. The “valid till” field may remain empty. In this case, the assignment is not restricted with respect to time.

Dates may not overlap when premium groups are assigned to a premium area, otherwise an error message occurs.
